Goodyear and America's Byways® Announce the 50 Most Comfortable Touring Drives which includes Washington's Chinook Scenic Byway

Enumclaw, WA, November 15, 2010 – A new national survey commissioned by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company and America's Byways® revealed that Americans planned on taking at least one road trip this autumn. A combination of stable gas prices and abundant scenic routes should contribute to opportunities for weekend road trips or vacation getaways well into the future. Many are making plans now to enjoy a road trip in 2011.

The survey, completed by Kelton Research, also found that most travelers want their journey to be something that is beautiful and unique, not just another trip on a superhighway. In fact, the overwhelming majority of people (80 percent) would opt for a scenic, touring drive rather than driving directly to their destination.

"Our survey showed that 97 percent of Americans planning a fall road trip agree that their overall comfort is the key to enjoying it, so we joined together with America's Byways to unveil a list of the 50 Most Comfortable Touring Drives," said Gary Medalis, general manager for Goodyear consumer tires. "These top 50 touring drives encompass comfort and scenery to enhance the trip and are all within reasonable distance of major metropolitan areas such as Seattle and Portland."

"For not a lot of money, travelers can skip the superhighways and exit to the smaller roadways to experience some of the best roads America has to offer," said Derrick Crandall, spokesperson for America's Byways and president, American Recreation Coalition. "While there are hundreds of fantastic drives along America's Byways, we worked with Goodyear to create a list of some of the best, providing Americans with what they told us they are looking for—comfortable, nearby drives that provide scenic and unique landscapes."

In the local area, the Chinook Scenic Byway, US Hwy 410, invites travelers to experience natural beauty, outdoor recreation and an abundance of wildlife. The byway runs for 92 miles, from Enumclaw, WA to Naches, WA for an unforgettable driving tour. "Visit www.chinookscenicbyway.com for an interactive map of all there is to see and do along the byway. Remember to check to see if the pass is open as it typically closes from mid-November to mid-May. Road conditions can also be found at www.wsdot.wa.gov."

The journey will amaze you with up-close experiences in Mt. Rainier National Park and provide you with access to hundreds of trails and viewpoints, and acres upon acres of pristine forests. Along this corridor, the landscape changes from dense old growth timber to a fertile agricultural district on the east side of the Cascade Mountain range.
